Arbor Day Exercises.

Last Monday was arbor day. It was observed by the Native Daughters in the planting of a number of shade trees in Jackson, Sutter Creek, and Plymouth. In Plymouth the school children and teachers participated in exercises in the M. E. church; at the conclusion of which six eucalyptus trees were planted from Main street toward the cemetery.

In Jackson the exercises were of an informal character. A number of trees were planted on Broadway, near the Zeila to replace those that died; also few were planted on Church street, and toward the old toll house on the Kennedy grade.

In Sutter Creek the exercises were of a more elaborate character. The proceedings were held in the school house, and a large attendance gathered to listen to the exercises. The program was as follows:

Song "The Planting Song;" salute to the flag; reading, "History of Arbor Day," recitation, "Plant a tree;" dialogue, "What the trees teach;" song, "An arbor day tree;" dialogue, "The trees and the seasons;" recitation, "Our Three Favorites;" recitation, "When the green gets back on the trees;" recitation, "Historic trees;" song, "Arbor Day;" recitation pantomime, "Three little trees;" recitation "Woodman spare that tree;" dialogue, "Which shall it be;" dialogue, "Why we keep arbor day;" recitation, "Three trees;" song, "Arbor day march;" address, judge Fred V. Wood; song, "Springtime;" address, W. H. Greenhalgh; closing, "America."

Under the auspices of the local parlor of N. D. G. W. a number of suitable shade trees were planted on the school grounds.

Arrested for Selling Liquor to Indians.

Mrs Marguerite Molfino, who was indicted by the federal grand jury in San Francisco two weeks ago, was arrested by United States deputy marshal, E. Warner, on Tuesday last, on the Molfino place, in Middle Fork district. On the same day she was brought before U. S. Commissioner R. Webb, at Jackson, and admitted to bail in the sum of $500, for her appearance before the United States Court for trial. She at once furnished the necessary bonds, with Carlo Giovannoni and L. Poggi as sureties. The case is set for trial before the district court in San Francisco on March 26. Spagnoli and Spagnoli have been engaged as counsel for the defendant. It is alleged that the defendant furnished liquor to two Indian boys living on the reservation in November last. The reservation Indians are in charge of the federal government, and hence the United States officials assumed the prosecution of the alleged offense.

Protesting Against License Tax.

At the meeting of the city trustees held last week, a very important matter regarding the imposition of a license tax upon certain classes of business was brought to the attention of the board. Mr Burgon, who lives in the vicinity of Plymouth, and who is an attorney of considerable experience, having practiced law in Utah and other states for many years, but who has retired from active practice, appeared before the board in the interest of Peter Derania. Derania is engaged in the butchering business. He has a goat farm in the northern part of the county, and has been supplying meat to customers in all parts of the county, Jackson included. The board of trustees, at the request of petitioners, decided that he was subject to a wagon peddler's tax of $10 per month for so doing business. The effect of this license was to shut him out of business within the city limits. It was against the legality of this license tax that Mr Burgon appeared, and addressed the trustees. He was armed with facts and law to sustain his contention, which was that such a license tax was in conflict with the laws of the state, and therefore null and void. His point was that cities and counties are prohibited by express provision from demanding any license from persons engaged in raising agricultural, viticultural, or farm products, and selling the same in this state. A person raising goats in this state had a perfect right to sell the meat in any part of the state without payment of either city or county license. The same would apply to manufactured goods, wholly or partly made in this state. He read from the statutes of many years back in support of his view, and claimed that while the law quoted was somewhat ancient, it had never been repealed, and was in full force and effect to-day. That it was a just and reasonable law. That a man should be taxed for selling the product of his own labor, was outrageous and contrary to all ideas of justice. He asked the board to take the matter into consideration, and repeal the obnoxious ordinance in that regard. The matter was referred to the city attorney. Mr Burgon intimated that proceeding under habeas corpus would be resorted to in the Derania case if this license demand was insisted upon.

190 acres in 12-7-13 and 7-7-14 with the timber thereon sold to F J Solinsky, jr, for $1368.

628 acres in 7-7-14, 6-7-14 with the timber thereon to F J Solinsky, jr, for $12,431 40.

The Borello Case

Little has been heard in relation to the rehearing ordered by the district court of appeals in the Borello arson case. The authorities here have received no official notification of the rehearing, but Creeley, defendant's attorney, telephoned to the sheriff's office that such action had been taken and to so inform Borello. The attorney general has charge of criminal cases on appeal, and he has probably notified the district attorney of the order for a rehearing. The district attorney left for Sacramento this week, probably on business concerning the case. The rehearing will be heard before the district appellate court—the same body that previously sustained the judgment of the trial court. However, on motion of defendant's counsel the matter has been reopened. It is presumed that a strong showing was made, otherwise the appellate court would not have granted a reconsideration. We have not heard when the rehearing will be had.

Wife of Chas. H. Crocker Obtains Divorce.

A San Jose paper of March 4th says. Charges of extreme cruelty recently made by Mrs Ella J. Crocker, wife of Charles H. Crocker, formerly an attorney of San Jose, but now engaged in practice in Sacramento, were proved to the satisfaction of Judge Richards yesterday in connection with the divorce suit brought by the wife. Mrs Crocker testified that her husband, on many occasions, had threatened her life, and was so addicted to drink that he made the home impossible for her. She told of a number of instances of cruel treatment while her husband was in an intoxicated condition. The couple were married in this state seven years ago and have no community property. She asked to resume her former name of Mrs Ella J. Andrews. The interlocutory decree was granted. The husband made no appearance.

Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

"The Raven" Revised.
Once upon a morning foggy, while I loitered, groused and groggy,
Over biscuits that were soggy and an egg that was a bore,
While I dawdled, almost dreaming, and my coffee ceased from steaming.
Suddenly there came a screaming—screaming never heard before.
"Tis some suffragette," I muttered, "screaming at my outer door;
Just a noise and nothing more."
—Chicago Tribune.

They All Balked.

A farmer had purchased a fine automobile, of which he was very proud, and he never tired telling every one what a powerful machine he had. One day, however, the inevitable happened and he found himself stranded several miles from home. Try as he would, he could not make the thing go.

A neighbor happening along and seeing his glum face thought to cheer him up, so he asked, "How many horsepower is your machine?"

The farmer spat disgustedly. "Forty," he said, "and every one of 'em balked."—Suburban Life.

Already Explained.

"Senator, I understand that your son is on the government payroll."

"He is; also his wife and my daughter. What of it?"

"Don't you think some explanation is due?"

"Not at all. My grandchildren are too young, and I have already explained to my wife that I have not landed a suitable job for her yet."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Get the Fat.

Lean hoss fer de race dat's long.
But you won't know whar you at
Ef de hongry time is wid you
An' de possum he ain't fat.

Words what ain't in de blessin'
You'll say, an' 'likes o' dat.
Ef you mighty short on dressin'
An' de turkey he ain't fat.
—Atlanta Constitution.

Telephone Lingo.

"So Miss Hayo, the telephone operator, has broken her engagement with you?"

"Yep. After she got my number she handed the presents back, put out her little white, shapely hand!"

"Well?"

"And said 'Ring off.'"—St. Paul Dispatch.

Reminders.

Mrs. Meek—Sausages are so delicious. Have you ever tried that flat kind?

Mrs. Cleek—Only once. My husband is such a golf fiend he won't eat any kind but the links.—Boston Transcript.

Jam.

"Oh, isn't this an awful jam?"
Said Annabel to me
When we were crowding on the tram
In close proximity.

I looked at her and said, "No, mam; It's not the awful kind.
But just the sweetest kind of jam
That ever I could find!"
—Puck.

A Purist.

Visitor—Isn't either of your parents home, Martha?

Martha—No, ma'am. Ma has gone for an hour's sitting at the photographer's, and pa has gone for an afternoon's straddle on his horse.—Judge.

Harmless Hop.

He is not old, he is not young,
The Chinese laundryman, Hop Lung,
The yellow cheek, the slanting eye,
The humble nose, the cheek bone high,
The cheerful face, the willing hand
That serves the proudest in the land.
His back yard you may scan with care—
No dirty linen airing there.
—Chicago Tribune.

Deluded Souls.

"I wonder why so many business men marry their stenographers."
"Probably under the mistaken assumption that they can dictate to them as easily after marriage as they did before."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Two Tosses.

He tossed a kiss
To an auto miss,
And then all things grew dim,
For ere he could leap
He was put to sleep—
When her big auto tossed him.
—Judge.

Brothers!

Kind Man—Madam, won't you take this seat?
Lady—I cannot deceive you, but I am a suffragette.
Kind Man—Then sit in my lap.—Life.

Various Likes.

The laundress likes the boiler's boil.
The cook approves the steward's stew.
The diner takes the brewer's broil.
And others love the brewer's brew.
—Buffalo Express.

Wanted Too Much.

She—Why, when I married you you said that I could have everything that my heart could desire.
He—I never dreamed you had such a big heart.—Cleveland Leader.

Divided Spoils.

Man has but little here below,
And he will have less yet
If he has to share his franchise
With a blooming suffragette.
—Judge.

Just as Good.

She—Oh, George, you've broken your promise.
The Cheerful One—Never mind, dearie. I'll make you another!—Comic Cuts.

Oh, Sugar!

Our country's growing better.
This is no empty praise,
For there is every sign that
She intends to mend her ways.

A Fan That Makes Ozone—Drops Shaken from Rainbows—A "Fake" Meteorite—Plant Stimulants and Poisons—Acetylene Inhalation—Oiled Sleepers—Moving Pictures by Wire—Adhesion of Smooth Plates—An Artificial Desert-Mirage.

An ozone-producing electric fan now being made in Vienna utilizes Dr. Franz Fischer's novel discovery that when air is much heated and then suddenly cooled, ozone is produced. A combination of small fly-wheel and air-fan is driven by an electric motor, and sucks in air and sends it through a kind of funnel to a Nernst radiator giving a heat of 3200C deg. C. The heated current is cooled by mixing with the air

Showing the results of his process of grinding and polishing steel plates far smoother than has been hitherto possible, Johanson, Swedish engineer, has given to the Paris Academy of Sciences a remarkable demonstration of the molecular attraction between bodies in contact. The slightest microscopic unevenness is sufficient to prevent molecular adhesion. Electromagnetic influences being proven to be absent, one steel plate was placed on top of another and then the pull of even heavy weights failed to separate them. The space between the two plates was found to be less than 12,500,000 of an inch, into which it is then forced. Of the oxygen passed through about 4 per cent is ozonized, and this proportion cannot be exceeded, so there is no risk of an excessive production of ozone. A single piece of apparatus, weighing not more than 30 pounds and needing but a small amount of power, is sufficient to purify the air of a large hall.

The downpour of rain that sometimes follows a ash of lightning is usually supposed to be due to the coalescence of fine drops on losing their electrical charge, but Laine, a Finnish observer, has found reason to adopt a new theory. He concludes that "the thunder jars the drops together. Near Vasa, a heavy thunderstorm came up from the east late one August afternoon, and, as the sun was unclouded, a brilliant double rainbow appeared in the east for half an hour arching from horizon to horizon. George Boorman was operated upon at the county hospital by Dr. Endicott on Thursday of last week, for the relief from pain of an amputated leg. He was the victim of an accident several years ago in El Dorado county, being injured so badly about the leg that the member was amputated. A nerve, however, has penetrated the scar or near the surface, which has given him a great deal of pain. The operation was performed to remedy this by forming a cushion of flesh, and placing the nerves deeper. The operation was entirely successful, and it is believed the patient will no longer be tortured after the fashion of the past.

W. H. Greenhalgh, some weeks ago was presented by his brother members of the local lodge of Knights of Pythias, with a solid gold emblem and watch chain in recognition of his services as a past chancellor commander of the lodge. The emblem is out of the ordinary run of such local mementoes, both as regards its handsome workmanship and intrinsic value.

Mrs. Mello of Butte City has been confined to her bed with dropsy for a long time. The attending physician had to tap her a few days ago, taking several gallons of water that had accumulated under the skin. She has been helpless for several months. Her brother-in-law, A. Mello, was before the supervisors this week asking for some assistance as he is alone in taking care of her.

The play of "Because I love you," will be presented by amateur performers in Love's hall on Thursday next, March 17, (St. Patrick's day) for the benefit of the Catholic church.

John F. Davis was in Jackson Monday and Tuesday, on business concerning the Whitmore estate.

F. M. Farwell, of the Jose Gulch Mine near Butte mountain, returned Saturday last after a stay of several weeks in Oakland. He is expecting that something will be done soon toward resuming work upon the property.

The city trustees have supplied the city sexton with 60 red-wood headboards, to mark the resting place of the departed who have no one to see that their graves can be identified. The sexton has put 3 coats of white paint on the boards, and has recorded the name, age and nativity of the departed.

The amount paid into the treasury on account of paid patients in the county hospital, last month was $154.

Miss Axelrod and Mrs. Voorsanger, after a visit of several weeks with their sister, Mrs. J. Gluckfield, left last week for their home in San Francisco.

Frank Podesto returned from San Francisco last Sunday. He was there for medical treatment, for fainting spells. He was recommended to return home, and remain free from excitement, and he would be likely to recover in the course of time.

Miller's Best Flour—once kneaded always needed.

Dr. Boyson, the eye and ear specialist, was in Jackson Monday, and left the following morning for San Francisco, on a business trip.

Mrs. P. Podesta and son left Wednesday morning for San Francisco on a short visit.

Angelo Garibaldi came up from the city on Monday, accompanied by his mother, whom he took to Volcano to remain there with relatives. Angelo left again for the city Wednesday.

W. Connors, deputy sheriff, has moved from the residence on Broadway, which has recently been purchased by another. He has stored his furniture, and will board and room at the Globe hotel for awhile.

Don't miss seeing "Because I Love You," in Love's hall, next Thursday for the benefit of the Catholic church.

Secure your reserved seat for the drama "Because I Love you," on St. Patrick's night, March 17.

Jas. E. Dye is still a very sick man, and confined to his house.

To-morrow is the last day for filing nomination petitions for city offices with the city clerk. No candidate can get on the printed ballot who fails to file his petition on or before March 12.

Reserved seat for St. Patrick's entertainment will be on sale at Ruhser's drug store on and after Monday next at 3 p. m.

On the 7th of March the "night rate" rule went into effect in all telegraph offices of the Western Union. In accordance with this new departure telegrams can be sent to any part of the United States between the hours of 6 and 12 p. m., to the extent of 50 words or less for the same rate as ten words at the usual day rate. This move is evidently to offset the competition of the telephone company. At any rate, it will be a great convenience and saving to the business community.

The skating rink has been closed for several weeks. The masquerade some time ago was not a financial success, and that ended the skating business for the season.

A movement is on foot to establish a tennis court in Jackson. The location of the playground has not been definitely decided upon as yet. Several sites are under consideration one on Peek hill near the old reservoir, and also the flat in the rear of the Broadway hotel. It is proposed to build a fence 8 feet high around the grounds.

Superior Judge Fred V. Wood will leave Sunday for Inyo county, to preside in the superior court of that county, in a murder trial, in which the local judge is disqualified, on account of having been connected with the case while prosecuting attorney. It is quite complimentary to the judge of this county to be invited to distant counties to hold court, and it is always customary to accept such invitations, especially when, as in this instance with the judicial business is in no wise so pressing as to suffer in any way by brief periods of absence. Since his appointment to the superior bench here, Judge Wood has been called to conduct cases in Alameda, Solano, Nevada, and Inyo counties. It tends to show the confidence other communities have in the ability and judicial fairness of Judge Wood.

Shot at Major.

Captain William H. White has had a narrow escape from being seriously wounded if not killed by one of the youths of the Preston school of industry at lone at which institution Captain White is the drillmaster with the rank of major. Advice says Eugene Griffin of Alameda escaped from the institution in company with Albert Brown. Griffin stole a revolver from the bakery shop of the school and when pursued by Captain White, Griffin is alleged to have fired a shot at his pursuer. The bullet went wild and to this captain White owes his escape. Griffin and Brown were later captured and will in all probability be sent to the penitentiary, as the school will not harbor them any longer.—Sac. Union.

JACKSON VALLEY.

Mar. 10—Here I am, back again. I only had the measles last week.

Professor Hyde of Sacramento came up Tuesday, to look after his dairy interests.

Everyone who has been sick with the measles, is much improved, and there are no more cases.

S. D. Sutcliffe has recently bought a three hundred acre ranch in San Benito county.

A little daughter was born to Mr and Mrs S. W. Kidd on February 27. As this is the first girl in the family, everyone was well pleased.

Arthur Burris of Sacramento, is visiting his parents this week.

Joseph Kidd went to Oakland, Sunday to attend the funeral of his cousin, the late Peter McMurry. He returned Wednesday.

Peter McMurry, an old resident of lone, passed away at his home in Oakland, Saturday afternoon.

R. L. Snell came up from San Francisco Tuesday, to help nurse his brother-in-law, W. S. Alford and family, through the measles. He returned to his home on Sunday last.

Met Their Match

A little unpleasantness occurred in front of the Broadway hotel last Monday night that is worth recording. The majority of the boarders are foreigners. But a native-born citizen named B. Cromer had boarded there for a long time. Monday night, after the boarding house had been closed, Cromer and other boarders were outside. He remarked casually that he would go to bed, as it was somewhere near midnight. Some of the bystanders took up the conversation, and indulged in offensive language, calling him vile names on account of the stand he took in the last strike fizzle in resuming work. Cromer is a baseball player, and an all-round athlete as well. Although the odds were strongly against him numerically, he considered he was capable of taking care of himself in a rough and tumble scrimmage. When one of them renewed the offensive epithet, he shot out his fist which landed on the jaw, and sent the offender in the dust. Thereupon, the others came to the aid of their fallen companion, and one after another Cromer piled them up in a heap in the roadway. While this was in progress the first one who had run up against the athlete's maulers had recovered from the knockdown, and was prepared for another tussle. Cromer was also prepared, and again landed, but more forcibly than before, this time knocking out a couple of teeth. The battle was over, with all the honors of victory resting with the defendant in the affray.

The next day a complaint was lodged in the justice court against Cromer on a charge of battery, Nick Andretich being the complainant. Cromer put up $50 cash bail for his appearance, and was released pending trial.

Criminal Returns

Township No. 5—John Blower, justice. Clark McGaffee arrested, fined $25

Township No. 2—T. H. Gartlin, justice. John Dolan arrested on complaint of O. R. Carlson on a charge of arson; defendant discharged on the ground of lack of evidence.

Township No. 4—W. L. Rose, justice. Dennis O'Brien arrested; fined $10.

Still Seriously Ill.

A. Grillo, supervisor of district three, was not present at the meeting of the board of supervisors held this week. He is still in Stockton, under the doctor's care, and from all accounts, is a very sick man. His illness is caused by Bright's disease of the kidneys. The trouble has existed for the past five years, and has been gradually growing worse. Few, outside of his intimate relatives and friends knew of his condition and the victim himself maintained a cheerful exterior. He has been away under medical treatment before, and was greatly benefited therefrom. It is hoped by his many friends that he will soon recover from the present attack.

How to Make Turkey Toast.

If you have any more of the white meat left over than you care to serve sliced cold a very dainty luncheon, tea or breakfast dish may be prepared as follows: Cut up in small dice, measure and add half the quantity of button mushrooms (canned) and cut in half. Moisten with Bechamel sauce, season with salt and pepper and heat over hot water a few minutes without stirring. Have ready on a heated platter rounds of triangular slices of nicely toasted bread. Heap the mixture on the toast and serve at once.

How to Develop the Arms.

An exercise which develops all the muscles from the shoulders to the finger tips is the corkscrew movement. Stretch one arm at a time up over the head and, beginning with the hand, twist the muscles, starting at the shoulder. This strengthens and develops all the muscles. It produces a sort of corkscrew or spiral curve that is beautiful. This exercise makes the arms graceful. A certain famous actress who has classically perfect arms keeps them so by this method.

How to Fry Scallops.

Select scallops with a yellowish instead of the white color. The latter were soaked in soda water to bleach them and make them swell. Rinse them quickly in cold water and dry them well. Dip them in a cooked or bottled salad dressing, roll them in bread or cracker meal and fry, preferably in deep fat or oil. Serve these with slices of broiled bacon and a

No sense in running from one doctor to another! Select the best one, then stand by him. No sense either in trying this thing, that thing, for your cough. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Princess Marie Bonaparte is the richest woman in France. Her father founded the Monte Carlo gambling resort.

Mrs. Daniel C. Morse, employed in a corset establishment in Worcester, thinks she is the oldest "shopgirl" in Massachusetts. She is eighty-four years old.

The president of the Dutch Woman Suffrage association is Dr. Aletha Jacobs of Amsterdam, who was the first woman authorized to practice medicine in Holland. Dr. Jacobs recently celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of her practice.

Miss Martena Kramers of Rotterdam, Holland, is one of the most accomplished of woman linguists. She can read and speak thirteen languages. She is the editor of Jus Suffragii, the official organ of the International Woman Suffrage alliance.

Caroline Bartlett Crane is an evangelist in social ethics. Mrs. Crane, fifty-one years old, lives in Kalamazoo, where in 1893 she founded the People's church, a creedless, seven day working church. Later she relinquished her pastorate and through the Woman's Civic Improvement league commenced a much wider work.

Train and Track.

Railroad signals of the present day are the outgrowth of the invention of a lazy Scotchman who when obliged to walk some distance to operate a signal rigged wires to it and worked it from his box, where he could sit still.

Out of 206 railway charters granted by the Canadian parliament in the twenty years ended 1909 only twenty-eight have resulted in any construction, eighty-six have lapsed, and the others have received extensions of time.

The railroad station at Langford, England, on a branch line, is in charge of an aged widow who has performed all the duties for many years. Her cottage, a short distance away, is also the ticket office, and a small wooden shed is the waiting room.

Recent Inventions.

A Michigan man has patented a post hole digger with pivoted jaws, much like a miniature clam shell dredge.

An Australian has taken out a patent on a buoy to be fastened to the bridge deck of a vessel by a coil of wire to enable the wreck to be located should the vessel founder.

A European inventor has brought out a parachute hood which he claims may be used on any aeroplane without hindering its flight, yet which will prevent disaster should the machine fall.

A North Dakota man has patented a hammer with a loop of metal under the face of the head in which a nail can be held for starting into place without danger of mashing the user's fingers.

The Royal Box.

The chief hobby of the sultan of Zanzibar, who was educated at Harrow and Oxford and speaks English perfectly, is the accumulation of clocks.

Queen Margherita of Italy has a weakness for books of American and English novelists. She also reads English and American magazines, and it is her opinion that the American school of short story writers at present is the best in the world.

King Edward celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday recently in excellent health and spirits, and yet seven years ago the coronation ceremony was first hastened on account of his physical condition and then postponed until he should recover from the effect of a serious operation.

Flower and Tree.

New Zealand has in its edelweiss a plant differing but slightly from the famous Swiss variety.

A single leaf of the orange tree carefully planted will often take root and grow.

An oak tree at 100 years averages forty-one inches in diameter, a larch forty inches, an elm fifty inches and a yew nine inches.

A white pine tree twenty years old ought to be about twenty-five feet high and at thirty or forty years of age it ought to measure about sixty feet.

Sporting Notes.

Rochester's (N. Y.) Aero club will be limited to fifty members.

The Eel, 2:02 1/4, gray wonder, has been barred from the Ottawa free for all contest and will not race on the ice circuit as a result.

Purdue university will introduce wrestling classes as a means of developing athletic candidates. All applicants for places on the teams will be asked to take part.

German Gleanings.

There are no deserted farms in Germany.

In Germany 20,000 foxes a year are slaughtered.

It costs Berlin less than $1,500,000 a year to keep the streets clean.

Earthenware factories in Germany have had to reduce prices for many articles on account of competition.

Dental students in the German universities will henceforth be matriculated in the medical departments and not in the philosophical, as heretofore.

Paradoxical.
Our language very queer appears.
Some phrases cause us doubt.
When men a race have started on
"They're off!" the people shout.
Then as the runners forge ahead
We hear above the din
This cry: "He's losing all the rest!
I'll bet that he will win!"
Next morning in the press we read:
"His victory was sweet."
He waited away from all his foes
And ran them off their feet."

Anne watched the process with big eyes and a look of expectancy on her face. Finally, when the last mouthful had disappeared, Anne asked, "Papa, did it tickle?"
"Tickle?" said her father. "Why, no. What do you mean?"
"I thought it would tickle," said Anne. "It had a long hair on it."—Circle.

Can't Collect Gambling Debts.

Money loaned for the purpose of performing acts which are against good morals and sound policy cannot be collected by means of the courts is the gist of a decision rendered by Justice Parker in the case of L. Galbraith, owner of a pool room in Tracy, who sought to collect $33 from J. J. Brown, a Southern Pacific brakeman. Justice Parker held that the case had no right in court and he ordered it stricken from the files.

An extract from the decision is as follows:

This clear and forcible language of the higher tribunals places the law completely beyond controversy. Courts everywhere deny redress to the party who enters into a transaction to commit an offense against the law, or to do that which is contrary to the policy of express law, or prohibited by public policy, and money advanced to another for the purpose of violating the law cannot be recovered. If the rule were otherwise, he who financed a pirate crew for robbery on the high seas could invoke the aid of the courts to recover the money.—Tuolumne Independent.

DON'T EXPERIMENT You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Jackson Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys. If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are all symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is known to cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidneys Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in Jackson. Follow the advice of a Jackson citizen and be cured yourself.

Benj. Gilbert, miner, of Jackson, Cal., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they proved of great benefit to me. I suffered from backache for a long time and the trouble gradually grew worse in spite of the different remedies I tried. I got so bad that I could not do my work and at night was so tired and played out that I was unable to sleep. A friend finally advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I procured a box at the City Pharmacy. I felt their good effect immediately and I continued taking them until I was cured. Whenever I feel any symptom of kidney complaint returning, I use Doan's Kidney Pills and they give satisfactory results."

Glassware and Hardware.
On occasions of impending danger people sometimes do what seems to them most absurd at other moments. When the steamship America, which carried one of the Ziegler exploring expeditions to Franz Josef Land in 1903, was being crushed by ice the following winter it became necessary to abandon the ship in haste. Orders were given to unload upon the ice everything that would be of use in the long winter yet before the men. The work must be done with dispatch. While the crew was passing the bags over the side of the ship the cook, who was of an excitable nature, suddenly appeared at the rail with a large bag, which he heaved over with all his strength. It struck the ice below with a resounding crash, causing one of the sailors to exclaim:
"Hello, cook, what was that?"
"Oh, that is all right," he answered. "It was lamp chimneys and flatirons." But it was hardly all right, for during the winter they were obliged to cut the bottoms out of pickle bottles and use them in place of chimneys that had been broken.

Doubtless True.
A teacher in a Birmingham school was endeavoring to explain the term "booking" as applied to our railway system, says London Tit-Bits.
"Now," he was saying, "can any of you tell me the name of the office at which railway tickets are sold?"
"The booking office," replied one of the lads.

"Right," responded the teacher. At this moment his eye fell on a small boy at the end of the class who was evidently paying very little attention to what was said.
"Did you hear that, Spry?" he demanded.
"Wot, sir?" asked that youth innocently.

"As I thought, you were not listening. We will suppose your father decided to have a day's holiday and visit the seaside. What would he have to do before he could take his seat in the train?"
Without a moment's thought the youngster electrified his teacher by replying:
"Pawn his tools!"

Odd French English.
A correspondent has been studying English pronunciation in a French dictionary (Pierre Larousse, 1890) and picks out a few examples to show how much effort is necessary for a Frenchman to acquire a true articulation of English. They are all taken from a surprisingly long list of English phrases current in France. "Broken down" (as applied to a race horse) is "bro-k'n-daoun." "Dead beat" is rendered as "d'id-hith," which is ingenious, but hardly correct. "Al-lal" is not a bad attempt for "high life," although the aspirate is missing. "Self government" looks an even more imposing political ideal as "self gheuvernement," and the word "shocking" is quite applicable when rendered "chok-lan-que."

The opening words of Hamlet's famous soliloquy have a decidedly foreign look, "Tou bi or nott tou bi, that is thi kouess-tcheunn."—Manchester Guardian

From Our Exchanges.

The sportsmen of San Andreas are talking of their annual bluejay hunt and a meeting has been called for Saturday night of this week in attorney Snyder's office to arrange for the match. The captains will be chosen and the sides made up. Everybody that can beg, borrow or owns a gun is expected to be present.—Prospect.

The examination for teachers' certificates which was given by the board of education last week, proved a "water haul," as out of the ten applicants no one succeeded in getting enough credits for a grammar grade certificate. It was rather a "weepee" lot of maidens that left on the outgoing stages Saturday and Sunday morning.—Prospect.

Dan Patterson, Saturday last, at his ranch near Bootjack, heard a commotion among his hogs and on investigating found a dead pig killed by lions. He at once poisoned the carcass and tied up his dogs and awaited results. The result was that on his next visit to the poisoned pig, three full grown California lions were found lying dead. He buried the poisoned meat and scalped the cats and buried them. The next day on passing the place he discovered that he had been too hasty in disposing of the poison as fresh lion tracks were all around where he had killed the other lions. The bounty allowed by he state game commissioners on California lions is $20 per scalp, so Dan is $60 better off and the good to the community cannot be estimated.—Mariposa Gazette.

D. Simon was among the fortunate ones Friday who were looking along Main street where the mud has been sluiced off by employees of the street department. He found a piece of quartz about one by one and half inches across, which contained about $2 worth of gold.

It had been hauled in with other crushed rock dumped into the street in years gone by. Considerable free gold is picked up along Main street whenever the refuse is hosed off.—El Dorado Republican.

Brother Of Jamestown Minister

It is thought that the body found in the Stockton channel, recently and buried in the Potters field, of Stockton, was that of Joseph Swithenbank, a missing miner of Angels Camp. About a month ago Mr Swithenbank left his home for the purpose of spending a few days in San Francisco. He bade his three motherless children a fond goodby with the assurance that he would return.

He wrote later to friends in Angels, saying he was about to take the boat for home, since which time nothing has been heard from him. From descriptions of the body found near Stockton, and forwarded to friends and relatives in Calaveras county, it is thought that the identity of the remains have been established.

He was honest, industrious and had no bad habits. The Odd Fellows of Angels have been trying to locate him ever since his mysterious disappearance.

If he lost his life in making the trip homeward, as some of his Angels friends fear, he must have fallen overboard, they figure, for he was not a drinking man and he would not take his own life. In a general way the description given of the drowned man fits that of the missing miner, who was of about the same age and height, and of light complexion. The missing man wore a sandy moustache and was of spare build, which fits the description of the drowned man in those particulars.

Rev. Charles Swithenbank, who was the pastor of the Clay street Methodist church in Stockton two years and was transferred from that charge to Middletown, Lake county, and the missing man, Joseph Swithenbank, are brothers, and sons of Mrs. Gallagher, who resides in West Point, Calaveras county. Another brother, William, lived in Stockton and died here a few months ago. They were reared in Amador county and always bore excellent reputations as boys and men. Joseph Swithenbank would have called on his Stockton relatives if he passed through this city and his absence cannot be accounted for by them.—Tuolumne Independent.

Board of Trade.

In answer to a call issued last week a number of our citizens gathered in the N. S. G. W. building Wednesday evening, March 2d, and enthusiastically organized the lone board of trade. The following officers were elected:

Pres., W. H. Prouty;
Vice-Pres., Jos. W. Sibole;
Sec., E. W. Perkins; Treas., H. Stewart.

E. W. Perkins, F. A. Merrill and G. J. Yager were appointed a committee to draft by-laws for the organization. This committee reported later in the evening and their report was unanimously adopted.

The membership fee was fixed at $1; monthly assessments, 25 cents.

G. J. Yager, J. F. Scott and E. W. Perkins were appointed a committee to solicit members and report at the next meeting, to be held at the same place Wednesday evening, March 9.—Echo.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

Halley's Comet.

According to Prof. E. B. Frost, director of Yerkes observatory, Chicago, Halley's comet will be visible to the naked eye about April 1st. It will cross the face of the sun on May 18th. The time of the comet's transit will be rather unfavorable for eastern observations, but undoubtedly it will be observed from the Lick observatory in California and through other western telescopes. The comet will be visible to the naked eye about April 1st in the morning sky just before sunrise. After it crosses the sun it will appear in the evening sky just after sunset.

This comet continues to be the subject of much comment and speculation. The first recorded appearance of the comet now known as Halley's comet in Europe was B. C. 11, when it hung menacingly over Rome for some weeks preceding the death of Agrippa, but the Chinese have record of it as far back at 250 B. C.

It has returned twenty-seven times since the latter date and has generally caused great consternation from its formidable appearance. Halley's comet, has always had the reputation of being the forerunner of hard times for the poor, and as it appeared several times immediately before very serious events in the history of the world, such coincidences have given encouragement to the general belief in old times that brilliant comets have something to do with stirring up things on earth.

Halley's comet is pictured in the famous Bayeux tapestry, which represents the conquest of England by William of Normandy. It was firmly believed to be connected with that event. Of it in 1456, Draper says:

"So tremendous was its apparition that it was necessary for the Pope himself to interfere. He exorcised and expelled it from the skies. It slunk away into the abysses of space, terror-stricken by the maledictions of Calixtus 111, and did not venture back for seventy-five years!"—Conflict between religion and science, chap. x.

The last great comet seen by our generation came in 1882. It was so brilliant that when it passed nearest the sun—within less than half the diameter of the solar orb—its brightest part was clearly visible in the early morning only, comparatively few persons saw it. Whether Halley's comet will or will not attain remarkable brilliancy this time remains to be seen.

Now that it is considered proven that a comet is a focus of tremendous electrical forces, perhaps it may not be so unscientific after all to suppose that a specially large and brilliant one may produce some powerful effect upon the earth's magnetic condition, and thereby on some of its inhabitants.

State Roads.

"I believe that the state should build all roads," declared the state engineer N. Ellery to a representative of the Bee, "and place the work out of the hands of county politicians, who cannot work with a free hand in view of local feelings that hurt the work. Large expenses are accumulated by some counties in road-building simply because they have inferior workmen holding 'soft snaps' through some political pull."

"I had a case in this part of the state awhile back where the state engineer department was doing some work on a river bank. The county was paying half, but I was doing the work. The supervisor in whose district the work was being done had a number of friends who immediately wanted jobs. He referred them to this department, and I sent the men to the man actually superintending the work, with instructions to give them employment, but with further directions to fire them if they did not earn their money."

"It so happened these fellows 'were political hangers-on who were not worth their salt. They were fired as soon as they showed what they were. They went to their supervisor friend, who was somewhat provoked, but managed to 'pass the buck,' so to speak, to me. I took it all right, and simply told them that I wanted men who will work and who can work."

"That's just the way it goes. Had that work been solely in the charge of the county men these men would have hung on like leeches and the bill up a great deal higher than was necessary."

"Various counties in the state run up against these propositions in the building of their county roads, and in nine cases out of ten you will find that the local feeling, either by giving work to incompetents or by persons fighting as to when and where a road is to be placed, or what material will be used, has much to do with many failures and exceedingly high construction prices."

Saved A Soldier's Life.

Facing death from shot and shell in the civil war was more agreeable to J. A. Stone, of Kemp, Tex., than facing it from what doctors said was consumption. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough, that stuck to me in spite of all remedies for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. I now weigh 178 pounds." For coughs, colds, la grippe, asthma, hemorrhage, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough and lung trouble, its supreme, 50c $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Spagnoli's Drug Store.

Investment Schemes

We look upon San Francisco as the money center of California; and such it is. Most of the enterprises requiring a vast amount of capital originate there. At the same time, it is also true, that the country districts play a very important part in furnishing the capital necessary to float these undertakings. One would naturally think that a scheme that promised a substantial return would be gobbled up very readily by San Francisco capitalists, who are always on the lookout for investments. Possibly the propositions are so plentiful, the good mixed with doubtful ventures, that they become tiresome. At any rate, it is noteworthy that the country—especially mining centers like Jackson and Amador county, where ready money is supposed to be available—is pretty well canvassed for funds to help many of these enterprises. Scarcely a day passes that some canvasser is not around interviewing our citizens with a view of investing. All kinds of propositions realty deals, stocks, bonds, and industrial undertakings, are pushed with energy by these agents. It is a logical conclusion that a fairly good investment scheme commands support from local investors, otherwise these canvassers would not continue to come around so persistently. These things go to prove there is money to be had for investment purposes in this locality, and disposition on the part of those who have it, to invest on any favorable showing. It is strange that local avenues for the employment of capital do not command as much notice as projects at a distance. To float a local enterprise, the promoters hike away to the city. With a city venture, the promoters seek the country.

Where Life is Cheap.

Your Oriental is something of a stoic; he knows he must die, and doesn't seem greatly concerned as to how it happens. Perhaps this is because there isn't much in his life at the best. As his fathers were, he will be, and in that crowded land the lot as a rule, isn't desirable. But the Orient isn't the only place where life is cheap. Here in America, where are the greatest inducements to live, life is really about as cheap, population considered.

Within the past few weeks, numerous fatal mining accidents have been recorded. Mining experts say there are fewer physical causes for accidents in American mines than those of Europe. Yet four men in a thousand are killed in the United States to where one is killed abroad.
Our railroads kill and maim 75,000 in a year, which is more than five times as great a toll as is taken by the railways of Europe. Yet it is safer to ride a year on an American railway than to spend the same length of time in the taxicabs and street cars of New York.

Tennessee, with two million people, records more murders in a year than all the United Kingdom with forty millions, and fewer of the murderers are brought to justice. And the record of other states, in proportion, is not far from that of Tennessee. While these things continue, there is less reason for this Yankee pride of superiority than you may imagine.

How Good News Spreads.

"I am 70 years old and travel most of the time," writes B. F. Tolson, of Elizabethtown, Ky. "Everywhere I go I recommend Electric Bitters, because I owe my excellent health and vitality to them. They effect a cure every time." They never fail to tone the stomach, regulate the kidneys and bowels, stimulate the liver, invigorate the nerves and purify the blood. They work wonders for weak, run-down men and women, restoring strength, vigor and health that's a daily joy. Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction is positively guaranteed by Spagnoli's Drug Store.

Runaway Car on Ione Central.

Last Tuesday, while switching at the station near Kerr's, a flat car broke away from the train and started on a wild run all by its lonely, for Ione. It held to the track faithfully, taking the "Y" track just above the depot, and made for the main track of the S. P. Here it followed the rails to the end of the track, where there is a bulkhead, and opposite that a telephone pole. Striking the bulkhead, the car made a clean jump of fifty feet, demolishing the telephone pole and making a straight shoot across country for Maestretti's barn, taking a corner out of that structure and finally ended its wild career in Mrs Miner's yard. No particular damage was done to the car or track, and the car was hauled back and put in proper place by the engine Wednesday morning. Parties who saw it coming down the grade say all they could see was a cloud of dust and a stream of fire. Probably it was running at a speed of 125 miles an hour.—Echo.

Official Certificate

Alden Alderson, superintendent of banks has filed with the county clerk a certificate, showing that after due examination, the Bank of Amador county has complied with the requirements of the bank act; and is authorized to transact a commercial banking business in this place.

A member of the bank commission was here a few weeks ago, as the law requires every bank, under the jurisdiction of the state be examined and reported upon every six months. The certificate of the superintendent is the outcome of the report of such examination.

At each roll of thunder the rainbows seemed to be much shaken, the edges being displaced and the colors blurred. This could not be due to the lightning, and it seemed that the same cause might enlarge the raindrops and disturb the rainbows.

There is a curious tendency to pronounce every unfamiliar stone a meteorite. One morning last October a broken gate at Norwood, Mass., attracted attention, and was traced to a hard gray rock of 275 pounds, which was declared to be still warm, and was soon exhibited in a dime museum as a meteorite. Dr. E. O. Hovey, has since examined the mass, finding it to be ordinary dike rock—labradorite-porphry with no characteristic of meteorites.

Besides the nitrogenous manures and lime and potash salts, other materials in the soil act as plant foods or stimulants, and some as poisons. Collecting the experience of numerous observers, Rene Vallire, a French chemist, shows that manganese salts have much effect on plant growth, the sulphate having given the best results, but the chloride and oxide also having exerted favorable action. Experiments have been tried with these salts on rice, wheat, oats, barley, sugar beets and flax. With 10 to 50 pounds of the salt per acre, yields have been usually increased from 25 to 50 per cent, but an excess such as 100 pounds of the sulphate per acre—has diminished the crop. As the proportion of manganese is not always raised in the plants of increased yield, it is inferred that the benefit may be partly due to destruction of toxins left in the soil by preceding crops. A similar action seems to be exerted by copper salts, so much used in fungicides, and the yield of maize has been increased from 27 to 86 per cent by soaking the seed corn in a copper sulphate solution before planting. Zinc salts, injurious in any but minute quantity, have been found to promote the growth and multiplication of mold and yeast fungi and the germination of wheat. Alumina, applied to the ground as an alum solution, stimulated the growth of barley and flax; and magnesia increased the crop of grain, potatoes and beets, but chiefly by promoting the assimilation of nitrogen. Bromine, iodine and fluorine act as stimulant or poison, according to dose.

The physiological effects of acetylene, now so much used, have been studied by Grehant, who has prepared an artificial atmosphere of 79 volumes of acetylene and 21 volumes of oxygen, and has noted the action of this mixture on animals breathing it. The acetylene proves to be much less poisonous than carbon monoxide, whose effects in illuminating gas and as given off by coal fires are so well known. A pigeon in the acetylene mixture died in 30 minutes and a rabbit in 40 minutes, but a tortoise was unharmed, and the arrested respiration of a frog was restored on being brought into the open air.

Pine sleepers treated with California crude oil have been used on the Santa Fe Railway since February 1902, with no sign of decay. Untreated sleepers last not over two years.

The miniature mirage of Dr. R. W.

Wood, of Johns Hopkins University, is produced with a sand-covered sheet-iron plate 15 feet long, heated by gas-burners. The sun is reflected from a mirror upon a sheet of white paper at one end. On becoming properly heated, the little desert shows a pool of water in front of some sand piles, reproducing perfectly the phantom lake that tantalizes thirsty travelers.

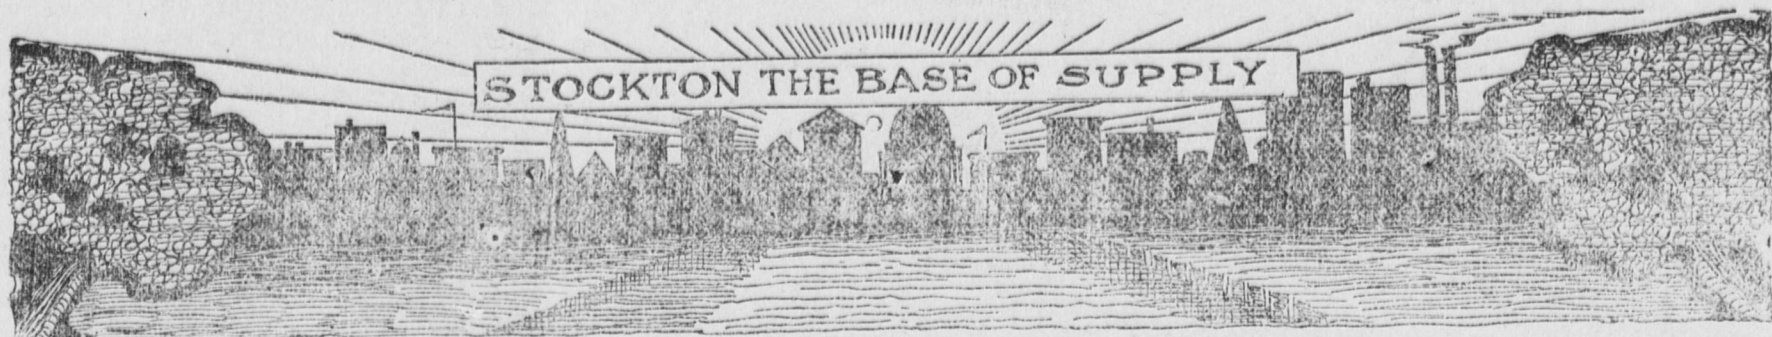

The new television of Edward Belin, the French inventor, depends upon the use of special perforated photographs, and upon transmission of light and shade by mechanical means instead of depending on the slow variations of the selenium cell. The holes in the paper photographs are of various sizes, to correspond to the large and small dots making up the ordinary newspaper halftone. The prepared photograph of the recent event or other scene is placed on a metal base and passed under a set of metal brushes in an electric circuit with the distant viewing screen, and the current passed at each impulse varies with the size of the perforation. The varying portions of the current received are made to illuminate more or less strongly little spots on the screen, each light spot corresponding in size and position to a perforation in the picture transmitted. A series of cinematograph photographs passed under the brushes would yield a reproduction on the screen showing the original life and motion, and is claimed to solve the problem of transmitting living images by wire. It is stated that the crude experiments made between two stations in Paris have demonstrated the practicality of the method.
